President's Message

By Jim and Karen Younkins

Hello everyone,

We are excited to share with you some changes in CVC meetings. Starting in 2026 we will go to a new meeting schedule. We will have our regular business meetings in January, March, May, and July. In February, April, and June we will have informal get togethers without a business meeting. At this time we are in the process of planning the details of these informal gatherings. Following this trial in July the Club can revisit the issue and make changes if warranted.

A financial statement and any other important information will be sent out to members every month.

I've had a great time looking through Jim's blog posts and pictures from Australia, and since you probably don't want to hear about our neighborhood walks, here's another blog entry from the Melbourne area.

Today started off in Melbourne pretty much the same as the last two days. Breakfast at our favorite coffee shop, then a brief walk around downtown. It was cold and cloudy as we wandered into parts of the city we hadn't yet seen. It was too cold to stay out for very long, but we did manage to take a stroll through Chinatown.

It should be obvious that visiting in winter would be very different than doing the same in summer. Somehow, though, I don't think we really expected it to be quite so cold. The weather has somewhat limited our motivation to explore the city.

The highlight of the day was a drive down along the east shore of Port Philip Bay. Greg, our good friend, picked us up from our hotel at 10:45 and we headed out of town. Much to my surprise the clouds began to disperse as we left the city. By the time we got down to the shore the sun was out.

Greg followed as close as possible to the shore of Port Philip as we headed south. As we drove through affluent neighborhoods with multi million dollar houses the views of Port Philip got better and better. It turned out to be a perfect winter day for sight seeing. In the community of Mornington we stopped at the Mornington Tourist Railway. This was the first time during our trip that we actually stopped to see trains.

Today the Railway was running a steam engine on their train. After a brief tour of the facility the train returned from it's 5km run up the line. We stayed and watched as they made ready for their next departure.

We continued south along Port Philip to the community of Portsea where we stopped for lunch at the beautiful old Portsea Hotel. We had a fantastic view of the water and the shore on the far side of the bay as we ate. After lunch we continued south to Point Nepean National Park.

Finally it was time to head back to Melbourne. Again we followed the shore as much as possible. We got to watch sunset over Port Philip as we drove north. It was a very pretty day to explore the area to the south of Melbourne.
